Property Description

In a world where humanity is more disconnected from nature than ever, they have envisioned a better way of living and embarked on a journey to make it a reality. The intent with The ARK is to create a successful, sustainable and inspiring model of how humans can live and thrive together with nature and yet with the comfort of modern life. This is The ARK, a sanctuary on top of the hills of Santa Teresa, overlooking the Pacific Ocean, where contemporary architecture and technological solutions are organically entwined into the verdant jungle to serve you as an infinite source of inspiration and creativity. Two hundred acres of green hilly land with majestic views on mountain, ocean and jungle of Costa Rica unite The ARK as a physical manifestation of a regenerative autonomous way of living, fully powered by solar energy and supported by an immense fifteen acre syntropic farm. Emerging as a collective of adventurers, doers, dreamers and believers, they are pouring their hearts and minds into a new way of living, where community is rather an action, than just a word.
